

PROBE OF NAVAL AFFAIRS TAKES A NEW ANGLE

Many Startling Facts Revealed by Admiral Sims

DIFFICULTIES OVERSEAS TOLD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Investigation by a senate sub-committee of awards of naval war decorations took a new angle today when Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, the only witness heard so far laid before the committee a long letter entitled "Certain Naval Lessons of the Great War" written by him to Secretary Daniels, arraigning many aspects of the navy department's conduct of the war.

Lack of full cooperation with the commander of the American naval forces overseas, the post held by Admiral Sims throughout the war was the general criticism made, but the letter contained also a statement that just before he left for London, Admiral Sims was told "not to let the British pull the wool over your eyes" and that the United States would as soon fight the British as the Germans.

Who issued these orders was not brought out during the hearing, but Admiral Sims said afterward the statement had been made to him by a high official.

Ask Full Investigation.—Introduction of the letter prompted Chairman Hale, Republican, Maine, to announce that he would ask the full naval committee Monday to authorize its sub-committee to make a wider inquiry or to appoint another sub-committee to investigate the conduct of the war by the navy department.

In a statement relative to Admiral Sims' letter, Secretary Daniels said he had referred it to the general board, "with directions to give consideration to it and to all other communications directed to the department concerning the lessons of the war."

The letter gives a recital of the admiral's observations on London on barely 48 hours notice, in March, 1917, and this statement regarding his instructions:

"Brief orders were delivered to me verbally in Washington. No formal instructions or statement of the navy department's plan or policy were received at that time, the I received the following explicit admonition: 'Don't let the British pull the wool over your eyes. It is none of our business pulling their chestnuts out of the fire. We would as soon fight the British as the Germans.'"

The letter contained more than 7,000 words and was written January 7. It reviewed Admiral Sims' experiences and said that at the time he left for Europe, he had no idea that he was to command the American naval forces abroad in event of war, then impending.

Secretary "Not Understood."—As soon as he arrived in London the letter said, Admiral Sims realized that the navy department did not comprehend the seriousness of the submarine menace, due to the insufficient scope of the American intelligence service.

"A review of the cables sent to the navy department in April, 1917," the letter said, "shows that the situation was very serious and that the navy department was rapidly winning the war by the destruction of merchant shipping."

The navy department was repeatedly told the letter said that it was a matter of simple arithmetic calculation to determine that the allies must lose the war if the rate of ship loss continued.

"For some reason, which has never been explained," Admiral Sims wrote, the navy department during the last six months of the war failed to put into actual practice a whole-hearted policy of cooperation with the allies—a policy required for winning the war with the least possible delay. The letter charged that not until July, 1917, did the navy department outline a policy of naval cooperation with the allies.

"As usual in such cases," it continued, "the policy was academically sound but it was not carried out or was not understood by the department is shown by the fact that for ten months after its receipt I was urgently recommending an increase of forces, still trying to convince the department that the United States naval front was off the European coast and not off the United States coast."

Was Much Embarrassed.—Admiral Sims says he was much embarrassed in his relations with other allied commanders by reason of the fact that although after an allied naval conference it was recommended on July 21, 1917, that four coal burning American battleships be sent to guard the English channel.

RAIDS ON ALIENS UPSETS POPULATION

Hundreds of Foreign Born in New York City Planning to Leave Country.

New York, Jan. 17.—Raids and deportations have so unsettled the foreign born population that hundreds employed in basic industries are preparing to leave the United States, according to the inter-racial council which tonight announced launching of a campaign "to make aliens better understood and to lift them from the status of mere cogs in a machine to the status of human beings."

"To offset Bolshevik propaganda among the foreign born thru nationwide educational activities," the council said.

"To promote better relations between the races in America by presenting the side of the foreign born and translating America into terms in which they will understand."

"To end unrest among the foreign born in industry. The present raids, the deportation of aliens who have urged the destruction of government by force are being interpreted by many of the foreign born as a campaign against the foreign born in general said a statement issued by the council.

"Hundreds of these foreign born employed in basic industries are throwing down their tools preparatory to leaving the United States. This condition not only is increasing the restlessness of the foreign born but it is tending further to decrease the production which already has dwindled as an aftermath of the war."

"The average annual immigration for the four years before the war was 594,800. According to United States immigration authorities, 1,125,000 foreign born will leave America."

"Added to this condition is the significant fact, proved by official figures that American industry is short 40,000,000 immigrants in the field of primary labor owing to the tremendous falling off of immigration during the last five years and there is the prospect of the port of New York that immigration for 1920 will be less than one-third of normal."

Some regard for the sensibilities of the foreign born should be shown in the present crusade against destructive radicalism. So much stress has been placed on the part of the foreign born in the impression in such activities that the impression has gone out that all foreign born persons are a menace to American institutions or at least the greater part of them; whereas the fact is that the great majority of them are loyal and are doing everything they can to understand America and aid in promoting its welfare."

DRY ENFORCEMENT MACHINERY READY

Prohibition Commissioner Krammer Names More Aids to Help Keep Country Dry.

Washington, Jan. 17.—With the appointment today of ten department commissioners for prohibition enforcement, the government's machinery was practically completed. A few state directors have not been named, but their duties are being performed by internal revenue officers.

Prohibition Commissioner Krammer's office had an inkling in its first day of operation of the multiplicity of problems that it will face until the public gets acquainted with the law. Telegrams and telephone calls poured into various members of the enforcement staff and there were almost as many different subjects to be discussed as there were messages.

Many technicalities, it was found are slow to be interpreted.

Hard Blow to New York.—New York, Jan. 17.—Demon Rum died hard in New York today, but he died, and even his distant relative, Near-Beer, will be no more in this state after January 31, according to an announcement tonight by Deputy Excise Commissioner D. Harry Ralston.

Mr. Ralston asserted that no provision had been made for the licensing of alcoholic drinks of any kind after this month, and that unless the legislature rushes a new measure, saloonkeepers who hope to sell near-beer and light wines will have to shut up shop.

"The last legislature," said Mr. Ralston, "passed a measure providing a liquor license for four months instead of a year which ends on January 31. When that ceases there is no way of licensing sale of liquor in the state."

Colonel Daniel L. Porter, supervisor of internal revenue agents for the New York district, made it plain today that New York was to be as "dry" as the Sahara. He emphasized this point by lining up 150 applicants for appointment as federal agents to run down liquor.

About $2,000,000 worth of liquor left port today on the steamer Yarmouth for Havana. The cases were loaded so hastily that the craft put out sea listing "starboard like a drunken sailor."

THIRTY AUTO- MOBILES BURNED

Panama, Ill., Jan. 17.—Thirty automobiles were burned up and a less estimated at $75,000 was sustained when the Y.M.C.A. building in the business section was consumed by fire early today. The lower floors of the building were occupied by the Panama Motor Car Company.

HOPES FOR EARLY FINAL ACTION ON PACT VANISHED

Republicans and Democrats Are Unable to Agree

CONFER AGAIN THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Hopes for final action by the senate on the peace treaty early this month had almost vanished tonight.

Efforts of Republican and Democratic leaders to adjust disputes over reservations will be continued next week but the time required for subsequent negotiations and the debate which will follow in the senate itself are expected generally to preclude final action before February, at the earliest.

Two sessions of the bipartisan round table committees were held today and considerable progress toward agreement on minor reservations was reported. Consideration of the crucial reservations affecting article ten of the league covenant and the Monroe doctrine, was deferred by mutual agreement. All four of the Republicans, Senators Lodge, of Massachusetts; New, of Indiana; Lenroot, of Wisconsin; and Kellogg, of Minnesota, and five Democrats, Senators Hitchcock, of Nebraska; Simmons, of North Carolina; McKellar, of Tennessee; Cullum, of Oklahoma, attended today's session. The Republicans also held a separate meeting and individuals of both factions held private conferences with senators not members of the informal committees. Several changes in language of the minor reservations discussed today were agreed to tentatively, it was said. Both factions emphasized that the work of the conference was tentative subject to approval by the body of Republican and Democratic senators favoring ratification. Leaders on both sides said little progress had been made in the preliminary discussion of article ten and the Monroe doctrine.

Republican leaders, including those of the "mild reservation" faction, appeared as insistent as ever that there be no change in the principles of these reservations.

Secretary Glass was elected unanimously president of the conference and the following were chosen to preside over the general sessions:

Dr. Carlos Manuel Cespedes, minister from Cuba; William G. McAfee, former secretary of the treasury; Dr. Ricardo Vecino, minister of finance, Uruguay; Dr. Rafael H. Elizalde, minister from Ecuador, and General Juan E. Parades, chairman of the Hon. furas delegation; Dr. Fernando C. Fuchs, minister of finance, Peru, issued a statement tonight expressing the opinion that the question of transportation was the most important question before the conference. This applied to international railway development as well as the establishment of regular and adequate steamship lines, because ships are now sometimes kept waiting at ports for weeks to receive cargoes.

In winning the fifty yard dash swim, Philip Gunther, Brooklyn Prep, established a new record by negotiating the distance in 25.3 seconds, clipping two-fifths of a second off the former mark.

Chace of Berkeley Irving School, New York, broke his own national record in the 22 1/2 yard race which he won in 2.38 1/2 seconds. The former mark was 2.39 1/2. This third record was broken by Conn of Rutgers prep school who added six inches to the old plunge mark of seventy feet.

JOHNSON MAY ENTER IOWA CONTEST

Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, today indicated that he may contest with Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, for Iowa's support for the Republican presidential nomination. In a telegram to Secretary of State Smith today he asked him to outline what requirements such as filing petitions in order to get place on presidential primary ballot, Smith answered him that all that Johnson's duty is to file declaration of candidacy before midnight February 27.

CHAMPAIGN LAND BRINGS HIGH PRICE

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 17.—One hundred and twenty acres of land adjoining the Champaign County club were sold today by Master in Chancery Walter B. Riley for $590 an acre. One tract of 40 acres was bid up to $840 an acre, but was sold later with the entire tract at the above named price. The land belonged to the E. O. Chester estate and was purchased by heirs.

RESIGNATION REFUSED.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—The resignation of Walter Williams, deputy United States marshal stationed at Peoria, was refused today by U. S. Marshal V. Y. Dallman. Deputy L. Ross Moore of the Quincy district will be transferred to Peoria during Williams' leave of absence.

FOUR FIREMEN KILLED

AIRSHIP AND TRAIN LOOSE IN RACE WITH GRIM DEATH

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Death won a double victory in a grim race with an express train and a government mail airplane tonight, when two more members of the Paul Delbene family, poisoned from eating olives, died in Fordham Hospital owing to the late arrival of the special serum necessary to save their lives.

Hospital physicians, however, hope to save the life of the only surviving member of the family of seven, a ten year old girl, with serum received from Washington.

Another package of serum, which was being rushed eastward from the University of Illinois via Chicago by mail airplane, failed to arrive because the plane had been disabled and forced to land at Black Oak, Ind. The fluid was reported to have been transferred to a mail train and is expected to arrive early tomorrow.

Had it not been for delays caused by storms it is believed that the serum brought on the train from Washington would have arrived in time to save the life of Angelo Delbene who died tonight before the fluid could be administered. His brother, Dominick, who also died, received one olive poisoning, are Paul Delbene, his wife, their two sons Antonio and Dominick, and two brothers of Paul Delbene, Angelo and Dominick.

Health Commissioner Copeland announced tonight that he had traced the poisoned olives to an east side store. There were forty eight cases in the shipment but it was learned that part of them had been consumed without harmful results.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR PAN-AMERICAN MEET

Live Discussions Among Delegates Will Characterize Second Financial Conference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Live discussion among delegates rather than ponderous addresses will characterize the second Pan-American financial conference. The decision was made today with the object it was said of producing the class of ideas which leads to solution of problems instead of purely academic presentation of views by designated speakers.

The organization meeting today was itself more like a gathering of corporation directors than a formal diplomatic affair. The ministers of finance and other official delegates from the twenty-one republics of the new world sat informally around a big table in the Pan-American union building, smoking, joking, renewing old friendships while they laid the foundation for the sessions next week which will have an important bearing on world policy.

The ministers of finance were elected honorary presidents of the conference and the chairmen of the various delegations were chosen vice presidents.

Secretary Glass was elected unanimously president of the conference and the following were chosen to preside over the general sessions:

Dr. Carlos Manuel Cespedes, minister from Cuba; William G. McAfee, former secretary of the treasury; Dr. Ricardo Vecino, minister of finance, Uruguay; Dr. Rafael H. Elizalde, minister from Ecuador, and General Juan E. Parades, chairman of the Hon. furas delegation; Dr. Fernando C. Fuchs, minister of finance, Peru, issued a statement tonight expressing the opinion that the question of transportation was the most important question before the conference. This applied to international railway development as well as the establishment of regular and adequate steamship lines, because ships are now sometimes kept waiting at ports for weeks to receive cargoes.

FARMER RUNS AMUCK KILLING THREE

Brooklyn, Conn., Jan. 17.—Victor Lippone, aged 38, a farmer of West Brooklyn ran amuck with an axe today, killed three persons, wounded two others, caused the death of his four days old baby and then hanged himself. His first blow was for his wife, who, also wounded escaped by rolling from the bed. A neighbor woman then was killed, her falling body crushing the infant. Hitting up a bob sled the maniac drove to two neighbor's homes. At one he killed a man in the sight of his two children and at the other fatally wounded an eighteen year girl and probably mortally wounded her mother.

REVENUE MEN RAID FOUR STILLS

SECRET HEARINGS IN MEX INVESTIGATION

Executive Sessions Will Be Held to Protect Witnesses From Harm by Carranza Government.

San Antonio, Texas, Jan. 17.—Mexico's objections to Mexicans testifying before the senate subcommittee investigating affairs in that country will result in an increased number of its executive sessions. The improbability that any effort will be made to compel any Mexican to testify was made clear by the committee today, but Mexicans will be asked to testify and in cases where the witnesses fear the results such protection as a secret hearing can afford them will be offered.

Mexican secret service agents have appeared here in greater numbers since the hearings began and there has not been held one session at which the Mexican government was unrepresented altho the representative was present merely as one of the spectators.

Most of the testimony taken in today's closed session related to robberies, outrages and oppressions inflicted upon Americans in Mexico, especially in the southern and eastern portions of the country. Those testifying asked the cloak of a secret hearing in order that they might return to their holdings in Mexico.

In the open hearings C. J. Gardner of Hot Springs, Ark., gave the details of the working of the "Gran Liga," a radical railway labor organization, organized during the latter part of Diaz rule and which attained greater strength under that of Carranza. It was largely to the influence of that organization that he ascribed the substitution of Mexican railroad men for Americans.

Gardner was one of the few Americans who refused to make on the Mexican lines. He was a conductor and for a time his "run" was in the country south of Mexico City, where he witnessed atrocities by the followers of Zapata. He related to the committee instances of mounted Zapatistas overtaking young women, throwing them up on their horses and riding away with them into the hills.

Part of the committee's time was taken today in examining witnesses regarding the source of an international News Service article that originated here but was "killed" in a Mexican newspaper. The writer, cited Guillermo Hall as the one responsible for the statements made.

Hall is the director of the Mexican trade bureau of the local chamber of commerce. The article questioned was that secret service agents of Mexico were investigating the record of Senator Hall with the object of ascertaining what business interests he had in Mexico and the statement that he was said to be interested in the affairs of the Terrazas family. Hall denied responsibility for the statements.

The incident of the recent receipt by Mexico of arms and ammunition also received some attention by the committee. There was placed before it information contained in a Mexican newspaper of January 13, that 18 carloads of arms and ammunition had reached Mexico from Pacific ports where it was disembarked. The shipment came from Japan and the paper added another that had been contributed by Candido Aguilar, was coming from Spain. The makeup of the shipment was given as 300 machine guns, 5,000 Mauser rifles and a million cartridges.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER AFTER LONG FIGHT

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Jan. 17.—Three and a half years under the cloud of a murder charge Harry J. Spanell, a former Texas music teacher was free tonight by action of a district court jury.

His third trial in connection with the shooting to death of his wife Mrs. Crystal Spanell, and Col M C Butler at Alpine, Texas, July 20, 1916, ended late today in his acquittal.

Tho on trial for slaying Colonel Butler, technically the jury did not pass on his guilt or innocence of this charge but sustained his plea that acquittal three years ago at his first trial on a charge of murdering his wife, had in effect cleared him of Butler's murder.

Colonel Butler and Mrs. Spanell were killed while on an automobile ride with Mr. Spanell in the evening. Spanell accused the army officer of being unduly attentive to Mrs. Spanell.

DESCHANEL NEW PRESIDENT OF FRENCH REPUBLIC

Chosen as Successor to Poincare by Large Majority

HAS CONFIDENCE OF PEOPLE

VERSAILLES, Jan. 17. (By The Associated Press).—Paul Deschanel was elected president of the French republic today by 734 votes of the 889 members of the national assembly voting. His majority was the largest since the election of Louis Adolphe Thiers, the first president after the fall of the empire who was chosen unanimously. The result was certain since the caucus of yesterday at which M. Deschanel was chosen the candidate of the senate and chamber of deputies comprising all the various parties.

The feeling among the senators and the deputies was that after the retirement of Premier Clemenceau from the contest to whom the parliament was disposed to give evidence of the nation's gratitude it was fitting that the new president should come into power with a vote that would give him the necessary authority to speak impressively for France.

The general sentiment is that while M. Deschanel has not won the presidency by such outstanding services as those rendered by Premier Clemenceau, he is a man admirably adapted for the position, which requires careful tact and is above all a safe man.

The proceedings, as provided by the constitution were formal, giving little occasion for enthusiasm when the vote was announced. Members of parliament on the floor and the visitors in the gallery however, joined in a great outburst of acclamation.

Madame Deschanel, and her children witnessed the demonstration from the gallery and returned to Paris with the president-elect in a motor car. On the return M. Deschanel was followed by a long cortege of parliamentarians. The procession was watched by thousands along the route, who cheered, each car crying "Long Live Deschanel!" and "Long Live the Republic!"

After the balloting Leon Bourgeois, president of the national assembly announced only the vote for M. Deschanel, complying with the request of the others who received votes not to include them in the minutes.

M. Bourgeois made an address of congratulations to the president-elect.

M. Deschanel replied: "The national assembly in calling to the presidency of the republic the president of the chamber of deputies wished to mark its profound attachment for those parliamentary institutions which in the greatest drama of history showed again their suppleness and strength."

"As a faithful guardian of the law, I intend to apply the constitution in letter and in spirit to solidify and perfect, in close accord with the nation's representatives these free institutions. The hopes of 1918 were not entirely realized and it is necessary today to conquer the difficulties that press upon us by strict application of the treaty of Versailles by the development of our alliances and friendships and by the union of all the French."

"I address to the members of the national assembly an expression of unshakeable gratitude. I bring to France and to the Republic all my devotion and all my heart."

THAT HUMAN FACTOR

One building project in an eastern city will help with living costs. A group of men have built an apartment house which is to be operated at cost for the benefit of those who own and occupy it. It is a co-operative building enterprise. The plan is feasible if some way can be found to keep out suspicion and jealousy and give assurance that all the tenants will continue satisfied and not desire to remove to other localities. It is the human factor that must be taken into account in this enterprise and upon which its success will depend.

It looks more and more as if there would be immediate work for the peace league, even if the U. S. is not an active participant. Conditions constantly become more alarming in Russia and while the world war is over, it is a fact which confronts the principal nations of the world that peace has not yet arrived. The Russian situation is the great unsolved problem, the world menace far more dangerous to world peace than the aggressiveness of Japan.

MORE MEANS OF TRANSPORTATION.

The Illinois water way is to be a reality as the formal government permit for its construction has been received by Gov. Lowden. The people generally know as little about the water way plans and possibilities as they do about the league of nations.

Nevertheless there is the belief that the realization of this water course connecting Chicago with New Orleans and making a great water course in the central part of the U. S., will be an enormous factor in transportation during the coming years. Completion of the project will have its effect upon railroad rates and will place the industries of the Mississippi Valley on a par footing for some foreign trade from which they have previously been disbarred.

WORTH WHILE TASK FOR CITY COUNCIL.

One worth while task for the city council is to compare the traffic law of the city with the state law and see to it that they conform. Just now the enforcement of traffic is not a very important matter, but with the coming of warm weather it will be one of the most important things for consideration. There will be more cars than ever on the streets of Jacksonville and a greater need for the firm enforcement of all reasonable traffic regulations. If city and state laws conform there will be less trouble about enforcement and the better protection can be furnished the public and the more easily.

WOMEN WILL BE FACTOR IN COMING CAMPAIGN.

It is admitted that the issues of the coming national campaign have not yet been clearly defined. Nevertheless, it is going to be an interesting campaign if from no other reason than the active participation of women. Four years ago the women took part in political affairs in a number of states. It may be that they held the balance of power and that their vote decided the result. But in the years intervening suffrage rights have been granted in a number of other states and the almost certain ratification of the suffrage amendment will make women a factor in a much larger way than in the 1916 campaign. Both political parties have recognized this fact and both of the big party organizations can be counted upon to use their most beguiling ways with the women in the endeavor to secure their active support.

A REAL REMEDY FOR THE H. C. L.

Here is somebody who has suggested a real remedy for the high cost of living. This doesn't mean as applied to bread, meat and potatoes, but in travel, in entertainment and other things that give pleasure. This remedy is nothing more or less than a state of mind. You can travel all over the world without cost if you choose to do it in an imaginary or a literary way. You can look at the most beautiful pictures, listen to the strains of most entrancing music and have numerous other pleasures of the senses if you just put your mind and thought into that state. In other words, there is no limit or no monetary cost attached to beautiful thoughts and they are yours not for the asking but thru mental cultivation. It is granted that not everybody will get satisfaction out of this H. C. L. solution, but the fact remains that much can be done along this line just as it is true that happiness is a state of mind.

CITY'S CREDITORS SLOW IN CLAIMING WARRANTS.

For years some creditors of the city have been bemoaning the fact that their bills could not be paid. Months ago the people approved the issuance of bonds for the payment of debts, along with other projects. Some weeks ago the money became available. Nevertheless it is a fact that warrants are now ready at the city hall for more than $5,000 of such accounts and the persons to whom they are due have not called for them.

Perhaps it's because there is so much money in circulation now than when the debts were originally contracted. Perhaps the creditors had given up hope and have really forgotten that the money is due them.

SENTIMENT IS FOUNDATION OF PACKER'S BUSINESS.

J. Ogden Armour said recently that sentiment is the foundation of his great business and that if it were not for sentiment that he would have been out of it long ago. To some people who consider the packer's great wealth and the influence that comes to him as the head of such a giant organization, this statement may sound like a fairy tale. But as you think about it, isn't it true that Mr. Armour has no other reason than sentiment for being in business at all? Years ago it is said he refused an offer of $130,000,000 for his business and it has grown since that time. He certainly doesn't need money, as he has more now than he can spend for his own pleasure or that of immediate family and friends. So nothing remains but the pleasure of accomplishment, the enjoyment that may come thru association with business friends, the satisfaction that there may be in providing employment for thousands of people and in watching the development and advancement of some of those employees. Ordinarily one doesn't think of sentiment as the foundation of big business. But here is nevertheless something to the theory.

From County Agent's Office

The Peoria Meeting.
Charles S. Black, Harry J. Rice, William R. Zahn, Frank E. Drury and Harold P. Joy of Morgan county attended the entire annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural association. They reported a very enthusiastic and inspiring meeting. We hope to have some community meetings in the near future at which these men will give their impressions of the state organization after seeing the line up at Peoria.

Seeding Clover.
In spite of the high price of clover seed Morgan county farmers are going to sow it this spring. There is no general agreement as to the proper amount to seed per acre nor the best method of seeding it. Some men pin their faith to sowing it when the ground is honeycombed in February. Others wait and sow it either with oats or so that the spring rains will cover it in April. In view of the high price of clover seed we are advising farmers to divide the amount of seed they expect to sow per acre and seed a part of this in February and the remainder at a later time in the event the first seeding fails to catch. In all extent we advise high grade seed and light seeding this year. Two years ago, James E. Rawlings of the Morton road showed the county agent a good field of clover secured thru seeding three pounds per acre. In the Red River valley I have the statement made to me by a man of unquestioned veracity that the best stand of clover he had ever seen in that region was secured by sowing only two pounds per acre. As a general thing farmers seed six pounds per acre when the seed can be purchased at a reasonable figure.

Other Legumes.
We shall continue the plan of last year and advocate more alfalfa, more sweet clover and more soy beans in the corn hogging down. At this time we have already located some very satisfactory supplies of soy beans and have asked the growers to reserve us a large amount until we could assemble the order. We shall adopt the plan that we followed last year of giving out infected soil for inoculation to all comers.

Farm Bureaus.
Fifty thousand farmers belong to the seventy-four farm bureaus in Illinois. Eight years ago there were only two farm bureaus. Only one ever discontinued the work. It will be only a short time until every county in the state will have a farm bureau. At the start it was hard to get a membership of 300 in a county. Now several have a membership of over 2,000, many have a membership of over 1,000, with 75 to 95 per cent of all farmers in the county belonging. Farmers run your farm bureau. Farmers hire the advisor and outline the work to be done. Your county farm bureau studies and works out the problems of soil fertility, crop, livestock and better living. Farmers are supporting farm bureaus because they are profitable to farmers and because they solve farm problems. The farm bureau gets farmers into a fellowship that is helpful to them and their farms.

It seems that Mr. Bryan is also to be denied his favorite drink.

The Barry Adage carried a story the other day about Mark Twain's cave. It told some interesting history about its discovery which was gleaned from the guides. We are glad to learn that somebody in Hannibal has at last found out something about the cave and Mark Twain. When we first visited Hannibal a few years ago we were unable to find anybody in Hannibal that knew much about Mark Twain, the cave or any other history connected with the great humorist's early life in the Missouri city. However, some philanthropist purchased the Mark Twain home and presented it to the city of Hannibal a few years ago. It may be that since that time the citizens have awakened and started to acquire some knowledge of the greatest humorist America ever produced.

The wakes held over the remains of John Barleycorn were for the most part rather quiet affairs owing to a lack of proper refreshments.

When a Body is Ailing

Whenever there is disease or suffering in some part of the body, Chiropractic has demonstrated that it is due to the pressure of spinal bones on the nerves that should feed those affected organs. Invariably when this pressure is relieved by Chiropractic Adjustments, the trouble vanishes and healthy conditions are restored.

That is why, if you go to a Chiropractor to be relieved of severe headaches or other troubles, he adjusts that part of the spine where certain nerves are pressed (or squeezed by the moveable bones of the spine). He adjusts the bones back to moveable bones of the spine. He adjusts the bones back to ing forces are set free to build up and strengthen the weakened or diseased parts.

Experience has shown that there is hardly a case of disease or ailment that has not been benefited by Chiropractic Adjustments of the spine. The Chiropractor knows just what part of the spine to adjust for the different troubles. It's all a part of his science and his training.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE LOSES TO ST. LOUIS

Visitors Won Game by Score of 24 to 20 — Game was Fastest Ever Seen Here — Score Was Tied at End of First Half.

St. Louis University defeated Illinois College in David Price gymnasium Saturday night by a score of 24 to 20. The game was one of the fastest ever seen in Jacksonville and kept the spectators in a constant turmoil.

St. Louis started off as the winners going to make a walkaway of the game. However, Illinois after the visitors had made two field baskets stopped them dead. Just before the close of the half Illinois spurred and when the whistle blew ending the half the score was tied at eight all.

The visitors did not win the game thru superior playing. The defeat of Illinois came thru hard luck at hitting the basket. Time and again Frazer and Tomlinson made shots that rolled all around the ring and then fell outside.

On the other hand the visitors had good luck with their shots. Especially were they good at long tries. In the second half most of their points were made on long shots. Two Weber hit the ring from the middle of the floor. It was impossible to guard against such shooting and all the Illinois men could do was to stand and watch the result.

Seldom has an Illinois team played a better game than that of last night. Their team work was excellent and they outplayed their opponents on offense and had Frazer been in form it would have been a different story to tell.

On defense Illinois more than held her own. The visitors did not have many chances under the basket and when they did they were hurried so much by Jones and Andrew that they failed to connect.

It would be hard to pick individual stars on the Illinois team. All of the men played a fine game. Jones as back guard and Andrew at running guard were both in the game up to their necks while Tomlinson Cully, Frazer, Barnes and Mellon also did good work. 350 Tomlinson played one of the best games of his career and made sixteen of the twenty points credited to Illinois.

For St. Louis Weber, Diethelm and Hermann played a star game. Weber's work on long shots was spectacular. Mueller at guard also played a strong game and held Illinois' forwards scoreless.

The score:
Illinois: F. G. F. T. T.

Brother Officers Called Major Armes the "Modern D'Artagnan" Who Died Recently Began Army Career at 16 and Was Seldom Without a Fight on Hand Thereafter.

From the New York Sun.

With the death in Washington recently of Maj. George A. Armes the retired list of the regular army loses perhaps its most picturesque figure. Because of his penchant for picturesque quarrels, his staid bravery and seeming disregard of consequences, the major for years was known among his brother officers as the "Modern D'Artagnan."

Even in his school days in Anadale, Fairfax County, Virginia, he was a leader and a fighter. He was 16 when Virginia seceded in 1860 and, announcing his intention of remaining loyal to the union, he at once started for Washington. Through his acquaintance with Southerners he learned of a projected raid upon the national capital and hastened to Secretary Seward with the information. Secretary Seward made the lad his messenger as a reward.

Young Armes acted as a guide to federal troops when they first crossed the Potomac into Virginia. He was twice wounded before the first battle of Bull Run was fought and received a third bullet in that engagement. In the spring of 1862 he enlisted in the 16th Virginia volunteers and it was not long before he was given a lieutenant's commission.

Served on Hancock's Staff.

The next year found him serving on General Hancock's staff. During an engagement he was detailed to carry a message from Hancock to Burnside. He took a straight course which led him in front of the lines and into view of both armies. His horse was shot and as the animal fell it pinned its rider to the ground. Extricating himself and managing to capture a loose horse on the battle field, Lieutenant Armes rode to Burnside in safety and aided in a readjustment of the union forces. His gallantry won him a captaincy in the 2d New York artillery.

At Hatcher's Run Captain Armes, after two attacks had been repulsed with heavy losses, volunteered to lead a third attempt to cross the 30-foot stream. Grasping a log, he started swimming, calling upon his men to follow. As he gained the further bank he was bayoneted in the face. He dropped, but the enemy breastworks were taken by his followers.

That night an order was issued by General Miles, complimenting Captain Armes and brevetting him a major. He was then 20 years old. He recovered from his wound and served through all the operations until Lee's surrender at Appomattox. With the coming of peace Armes was commissioned a second lieutenant in the regular cavalry and assigned to duty in the West.

Distinguished Indian Fighter.
It was not long before Armes was again mentioned in orders. With a detachment of troopers he had swooped down upon a band of hostile Indians who had been murdering whites and running off their cattle on the North Platte River. The Indians were taken by surprise and most of them killed. Their tents were burned and every head of stolen stock was recovered.

In January, 1867, word reached Fort Sedgewick, where Armes was stationed, that thirty wood choppers were beleaguered by the Indians and in a fair way to be starved, frozen or massacred if help did not come. Armes and his detachment of forty troopers rescued the men and when General Grant heard of the exploit he ordered Armes commissioned a captain.

He was then assigned to the 10th cavalry, stationed at Fort Hays, on the Kansas frontier. He was 22 years old and the youngest cavalry captain ever in the regular army. In his next Indian fight he was shot through the hip.

In 1869 Armes caused the arrest of two officers in his command, accusing them of selling army mules for their own profit. The prisoners had influential friends and Armes suffered for his firmness. Almost continuously from that time he was in bitter conflict with the authorities at Washington.

Tweaked a Governor's Nose.
Not long after President Harrison's inauguration Major Armes distinguished himself once more, this time by tweaking the nose of Governor Beaver of Pennsylvania. The governor had first made Armes a member of his staff for the inaugural parade. Then, to oblige the major's enemies, the governor had changed his mind about it.

After being placed on the retired list Major Armes continued to live in Washington, where he entered the real estate business, in which he is said to have made a million dollars. He was greatly interested in behalf of the Boers against England during the South African War and boasted of having been the means of sending twenty-three thousand recruits to the Boer colors.

RED CROSS WORK IN GREECE AND BULGARIA

This Will Be Dr. Black's Theme Before Evanston Woman's Club.

The last monthly bulletin of the Woman's Club of Evanston gave the following statement about the lecture to be given before the club in March by Major Carl E. Black of this city.

"One of the most interesting lectures on the Club calendar for the year is anticipated on Tuesday afternoon, March 4th, when Major Carl E. Black, Chief Surgeon of the American Red Cross expedition to Greece, will tell some of his experiences and show a large number of stereopticon slides made from photographs which he took during a year of strenuous work in Greece and Bulgaria. Major Black was the first American officer of any rank to enter Bulgaria after the armistice was signed and spent weeks traveling from one end to the other with a small company of assistants in two private cars (re-modeled four wheeled box cars) searching for and shipping to their homes in Greece thousands of men, women and children who had been captured early in the war by the Bulgarian army and who had been kept at hard labor in complete slavery. Dr. Black was in conference with Premier Venesuelos on numerous occasions and will tell something of this interesting man who, Lloyd George says, is the most wonderful character produced by the great war.

"Col. Edward Capps, who was chief of the American Red Cross Expedition to Greece is head professor of Greek at Princeton and owing to his many previous visits to Greece and his acquaintances and knowledge of the country, opportunity was open to Major Black and other officers to see many things of unusual interest, both connected with and apart from the war.

"Dr. Black will tell something of the work of the Americans to help suffering humanity in Greece and our members will be interested to know how their contributions to the Red Cross were turned into food, shelter, clothing, medicines, hospitals and medical service, how thousands of children, made orphans by the war, were cared for until homes could be found for them.

"Dr. Black was decorated with the Order of the Redeemer, the highest civilian honor which is conferred in Greece, also the Order of Military Merit, both of which speak for the splendid service performed by him. Dr. Black's home is in Jacksonville, Illinois, where he has been a prominent surgeon for many years. He is a brother of Dr. Arthur D. Black of 1250 Ashbury Avenue, Evanston."

NEW "ACTUELLE" THE PERFECT INSTRUMENT

New Pathe Make Has No Reproducer or Tone Chamber—Sound Direct From Record—Plays All Records.

Without a doubt the new Pathe "ACTUELLE" just received by J. J. Mallen & Son, South Sandy street, is the most perfect instrument yet invented for the reproduction of all sounds. So marvelously actual has been the results obtained that the name "ACTUELLE" was given the instrument. Hearing music from this instrument, whether voice, string or brass, and not seeing it, one would claim positively that he was listening to the original. This is a strong claim but easily can be verified and Mallen & Son will welcome the opportunity.

A striking and beneficial feature of the "ACTUELLE" is the absence of Reproducer and Tone Chamber, the sound of the selection being played coming direct from the record in the natural manner and amplified by being thrown against a large convex disc which turns with the progress of the needle over the record.

The "ACTUELLE" will play any make of record as perfectly as it does the Pathe, giving its music-loving owner the widest possible selection of good music.

CITY'S CREDITORS SHOULD CALL FOR WARRANTS
City Attorney J. A. Bellatti yesterday called attention to the fact that warrants are in hands of the city clerk for back indebtedness bills to the amount of $5,000 or $6,000 and that the creditors to whom the warrants belong are slow in calling for their money. Certainly by this time every creditor of the city should know that money for the back indebtedness was made possible thru the bond issue. Now that the warrants have been issued it will be helpful to the city in clearing up the records if creditors will make demand for the warrants due them.

Y. W. C. A. CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION

Association Seeks to Give Public Better Understanding of Its Work—Miss Mary Wadsworth, Chairman for Morgan County Campaign.

The Young Women's Christian association is now engaged in a country wide educational campaign in order to give the public a better understanding of the association work. Thru this campaign it is hoped that the purpose, history, policy, achievements and needs of the national and local associations will be emphasized and thus help friends found.

Miss Mary Wadsworth is the chairman for Morgan county and has general charge of this educational campaign which is to be run until Feb. 22, and then followed by a week's drive for funds. Miss Wadsworth said yesterday that as a part of this educational campaign Jacksonville at an early date a speaker of wide reputation will make an address in Jacksonville under the auspices of the Jacksonville college club. This speaker will tell of the past work of the Y. W. C. A. and point out to the useful work that can be done in the future if the association is given merited assistance.

In a recent public letter the Y. W. C. A. organization, making special reference to the educational and financial campaigns, had the following to say:

"Because of its peculiar fitness—gained through fifty years of steadily increasing growth—the Young Women's Christian Association was asked by the Government during the war to undertake important and responsible pieces of work with girls and women in camps and munition centers in this country and overseas. As a result of its much enlarged and expanded program, the National and Local Associations have expanded way out of proportion to any normal growth. Many demands are constantly being made upon us now. We have the program and the machinery. Shall we go forward and meet these demands and develop programs already begun, or shall we fall back into our pre-war status? If we shall go forward, we must have more friends willing to give of their time, money, energy and talents.

"The present condition of our country is a challenge to thinking women, who sense the seriousness of the situation, to mobilize their resources in order that Christian ideals may rule the social, political and industrial world. Christianity, as a solution, has never been really tried. To the extent that it has been tried, it has succeeded. But if it does not solve the problems facing us, there is no other way out.

"The Young Women's Christian Association is one of the largest and best instruments for training women in Christian leadership, and only through such leadership can we hold any hope for the future civilization. Only those willing to make sacrifices in order to serve can render the service that the whole country is looking for at this confused time."

ATTENDED BANQUET FOR GEN. PERSHING

Thomas Worthington in Denver When City Paid Honors to Leader of American Overseas Forces.

Hon Thomas Worthington has returned from Denver, where he spent the past week on business. While in the western city Mr. Worthington had the pleasure of attending a reception and banquet in honor of Gen. Pershing. The whole day was given over to festivities in honor of the commander in chief of the American Expeditionary forces and certainly nothing was left undone in the endeavor of Denver citizens to impress upon the general that the country is proud of him.

A dinner was given at Gen. Pershing at the One Mile High club and Mr. Worthington was there as one of the guests. Gen. Pershing made a brief address. "He is not an orator in the ordinary acceptance of the term," said Mr. Worthington, "but speaks in a very impressive way. He said that he was far enough now from the east to talk in a somewhat confidential way and then proceeded to tell something about the strategy of the war. He gave some first hand information too about the conditions which made it advisable to use all commands under Marshal Foch. He explained the plan whereby there was this consolidation of command, and described the authority that is still vested in the military organizations of each country."

Altogether it was a very informing address and Mr. Worthington especially appreciated the opportunity of hearing the general talk.

guests were present, and were dressed in keeping with the spirit of the occasion. Mrs. Edward Newton received a prize as the one wearing the most appropriate costume.

At 8 o'clock the class president, Mrs. Olive L. Morrison, called the "Topsy Turvy" crowd to order. Then began a lengthy and very interesting program. Among the numbers deserving special mention were a solo song by Mrs. B. A. Craz and Mrs. A. Reed G. Brockhouse. A speech by Master Edgar Cooper, son of Mrs. Adella, was one of the enjoyable numbers. It was his first speech before an audience, and was received with a great appreciation. Merle Abernathy gave a solo and he always pleases his hearers. A harp selection by C. O. Bayles, was also rendered in good style. Various games and amusements were indulged in and prize awarded. Mrs. Raymond Smith and Samuel Blumling won the prize in the "verse contest." In the "mule contest" Lewis Boscoe and Miss Leona Cox were winners.

A contest of "letters" between the men and women, was won by the men. William Gaffney was the men's captain, and Miss Eva Abernathy served as captain for the ladies. A similar contest between the boys and girls was won by the boys' side.

Refreshments were then served, to all in true "Topsy Turvy" fashion on paper plates, consisting of pie "upside down" with a tin spoon to eat with, tin cup wrong side up with napkin inserted. Coffee was served from a "tea kettle," sugar being furnished in tin pans and buckets. At a late hour the merry crowd left the hall feeling that they had spent a most enjoyable evening in a very novel way. The class received $13.01 as proceeds.

A class of fourteen candidates were admitted to membership. After a social hour refreshments were served, consisting of sandwiches, potato salad, salmon salad, pickles, coffee, ice cream and wafers. All returned home at a late hour, voting Casco lodge members royal entertainers.

A recent meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Christian church, the members of the society presented their worthy president, Mrs. Ora T. Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Emma Goldman.
I saw fair Emma leave our shores, and escape was foisted on her lid; she called with many names, and was named too much, as Emma did. She stood upon the vessel's prow, what time the siren gave three toots, and shrieked to us, "I leave you now, but I'll come back, you bet your boots!" Alas, it was an idle threat, though hurled at us with force and vim; the ocean's deep and wide and wet, poor Emma cannot swim. Thus sailed away a brainy dame who might have ranked among the great, and figured in our Hall of Fame, had she but had her head on straight. She went around denouncing things and telling people they were slaves, as bonemes of the money kings and other plutocratic knaves. Her wage existence was a knock she has the morals of a dip; and now, because she couldn't walk, she crossed the ocean in a ship. We couldn't shoo her off the earth, but we did shoo her of this shore, which tribute to her sterling worth appeared to make old Emma sore. So fare thee well, O Emma dear, may you keep fat in other lands; we're tired of locoed ladies here, who talk of bombs and burning brands.

LONDON CLUBS COST MORE.

Some Institutions Have Almost Doubled Their Membership Rates.

From Manchester Guardian.
There is little doubt that before long all the London clubs will have raised their subscriptions. The "Rag" has raised its subscription one guinea. The Athenaeum has increased from eight to ten guineas. The Cadoganian has almost doubled its entrance fee. The Saville club, founded by Sir Sidney Colvin, the intimate friend of Robert Louis Stevenson, is contemplating raising its subscription from seven to ten guineas. As the character of this club is literary and artistic, two qualities which tradition does not associate with opulence—some of the older members question the wisdom of the proposed change.

Nor was the increase in subscription at the Athenaeum carried without debate. Members who had long remained in rural retreats are said to have visited London on the occasion of the annual general meeting called to decide the matter, and a select committee has been appointed to consider what improvements can be effected in the club in view of the increased subscription.

Here's one of the new ones Varsity Fifty Five in a Double Breasted. We'll show you any number of smart ones.

When you say, 'What's the price'

When you come in here and pick out a suit and say to the salesman "How much?"

He'll say "$40" perhaps, or maybe "$50" or "$60"—depends on the suit you choose.

You may say "Why, I can beat that price $5 or $10."

Probably you can; but that isn't the point, you can't get as much clothes value for your money anywhere else; that $5 or $10 is in the suit; it's the $5 or $10 that makes good quality possible; and that makes the suit outwear the cheaper one two to one.

During the past few days students have been arranging for their work for the second semester. The semi-annual examinations of the College will occur during the week of January 26 to 30. Six propositions regarding the ratification of the League of Nations and the Treaty were submitted to the students at the regular chapel exercises Tuesday morning. The two propositions receiving the largest number of votes read as follows:

"I favor a compromise on the reservations of such a character as will avoid the danger of defeating ratification while still making clear that America can only be involved in war by a declaration of Congress, that domestic questions and the Monroe Doctrine are entirely outside of the jurisdiction of the League, that plural votes of any member are all disqualified in the event of a dispute wherein we are disqualified from voting, and that on deciding to withdraw we are to be the judge of whether our obligations have been met." This proposition received 63 votes.

"I am in favor of the ratification of the Treaty and the League but only with the specific reservations as voted by the majority of the Senate. This proposition received 37 votes. The total number of votes cast, including the faculty, was 155.

Mrs. W. H. Marbach led the regular Y. W. C. A. meeting Monday afternoon. She gave a very interesting talk to the girls on the subject "Seeing Ourselves in the Laver".

The French Club held its regular meeting Thursday evening at Academy Hall. Miss Mary Alexander, '19, was elected president of the Club owing to the fact that Fred Bray expects to leave college to go to his ranch in the West early in February.

Dr. Frank Sheldon, of Boston, Massachusetts, will speak at the Devotional Service Sunday evening at Academy Hall. Dr. Sheldon is a speaker of exceptional power and one who has unusual ability in appealing to the student mind.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting Tuesday evening was led by Franklin Scott, '22, who gave an interesting account of his impressions of several of the great religious leaders who took part in the International Convention held at Des Moines, Iowa, a short time ago.

A course in the Teaching of History in Secondary Schools will be offered by the Department of History during the second semester.

The New York Society of Illinois College Alumni held its annual banquet at the Hotel McAlpin in New York Friday evening. The attendance at the banquet was unusually large, more than fifty alumni, former students and friends being in attendance. The following telegram was received by President Rammekamp from the Society Saturday morning:

"New York Society Alumni having successful dinner. We feel the absence of our efficient and faithful president. We send heartfelt sympathy and offer our prayers for his steady recovery of strength, and promise him our cooperation in the campaign for funds. Byron C. Darling, Secretary."

More detailed account of the banquet will be given later.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

It Leads the Light Six Field

The greatest single reason for the popularity of the five-passenger Paige "Glenbrook" is its new six-cylinder motor. Since this model made its appearance, wonderful reports have been coming to us about its remarkable power and economical performance.

The attainment of these much desired qualities was by no means the result of circumstance.

A predetermined standard of motor building was alone responsible for them.

We knew what we were striving for and we willingly devoted three years of ceaseless effort to the realization of our ideal.

In the performance of the Paige "Glenbrook" has come our reward. From what its owners say of it, we know that we have indeed accomplished our purpose.

A single demonstration will convince you, we believe, that it is the greatest dollar-for-dollar value on the American market. Won't you take that demonstration?

Clover Seed

We all know the big benefit the soil derives from clover. We also know the great amount of wasted effort in fighting different conditions, trying to obtain a stand. Why should we waste our seed and time, when it is unnecessary? Who can tell, but we are safe in saying 25 per cent of clover seed sown in our county is wasted. It is our desire to help our farmers to stop this waste, we profit by their benefit, this is our "Reason."

The Alfalfa and Grass Seed Drill successfully overcomes the expensive and uncertain results obtained from broadcasting Clover, Alfalfa and other small grass seeds. In broadcasting these costly seeds there is a great waste, it is uncertain as to results, the seed is sown more or less uneven, is blown in patches by the wind, washed by rains, leaving it too thick or too thin in places, part is covered too deeply, part not deep enough, and much left on top of the ground is picked up by the birds. Therefore, many times more seed is required than necessary if all seed were put in the ground and covered uniform depth.

Call in and See This Drill

This drill sows the exact quantity desired. Not necessary to sow more good seed than actually required for a good stand of grasses. The seeds sown in rows 4 inches apart, conceded to be the proper width for Clover and grasses, because it produces the largest yield. All the seed is put IN the ground, not on top, deposited and covered uniform depth without waste. Even sowing means even growing. It makes a perfect seed bed, saves costly seed, insures against total failure, and increases the yield. Every tiny seed has a chance to germinate and produce a sturdy, vigorous, deep-rooted plant.

There are 18,000 Red Clover Seeds in an ounce or 288,000 to a pound. Fifteen thousand Alfalfa Seeds in an ounce or 240,000 to a pound. We have 43,560 square feet in an acre which means an average of 6 1/2 Red Clover Seeds and 5 1/2 Alfalfa Seeds to a square foot for every pound of seed sown. In the quantities usually broadcasted an average of 66 Red Clover Seeds and often 125 Alfalfa Seeds are deposited upon each square foot of ground, many times the number of plants the ground can support.

How much expensive seed do you waste in broadcasting? Drill the Clover Seed in winter wheat with the Alfalfa and Grass Seed Drill. Do not mud it in. Wait until the ground is right. This Drill will put the seed down in the moist earth where it germinates quickly and grows rapidly. The disks are set at a slight angle to give easy penetration. They cultivate the growing wheat without tearing up or injuring the plants, put new life and vigor into the growing plants, increasing the yield from three to five bushels per acre.

EACH WAR A WORSE ONE

Need of Preparedness Shown by Comparison of Struggles—Revolution Could Have Been Fought 1,000 Years with What We Spent to Help Defeat Germany—Military Policy Should be Formulated.

Major Robert C. Cotton, U. S. A., the editor of the Infantry Journal, official organ of the United States Infantry association, in an article written for the association compares the casualties and cost of the civil war with those of the recent war, and as a result of these comparisons reaches the conclusion that "one has but to compare one war with a preceding one and the necessity for preparedness is foreboding and ominous."

"In 1860 the population of the United States was 31,443,321," says Major Cotton. "The military population of the northern states was 3,769,020. The military population of the southern states was 1,064,193. The military population of the border states, Kentucky, Maryland and Missouri, was 516,085."

"Deducting the men who entered the northern army from the southern states and the southern union men who did not take up arms, leaves the southern states a military population of 898,184. The enlisted strength of the Confederacy probably did not exceed six hundred thousand to seven hundred thousand, as its maximum in 1863, of which only about four hundred thousand were available in the field. In March, 1865, the field force is stated to have been about two hundred thousand men."

"The monthly records in the Confederate army are incomplete, but figures based upon these incomplete data show: Killed, 52,954; died of wounds, 21,570; and died of disease, 59,297."

"A table prepared by the surgeon general of the Confederate army shows that one-third of the Confederate army was killed on the field of battle or died at wounds or disease, and that a third was captured and held as prisoners of war. The military age of the Confederate army was 17 to 50."

"Civil War Cost 15 1/2 Billions." "In all during the civil war the north called to arms 2,320,272 men. The report of the provost marshal general for 1865 gives the total casualties of the civil war as 912,082. Of these 96,135 were killed or died of wounds. This aggregate of 912,082 includes killed, died of wounds, of disease, accidentally killed, put to death, honorably discharged, dismissed, resigned, and all other causes which produce discharge from the service."

"The loans raised in the North were 2,800 million dollars. When the final total cost is considered pensions, interest on war debt and all other charges incident to the war are included the Civil War is estimated to have cost the United States in round numbers 15 1/2 billion dollars to the year 1900."

"Little attention was paid to the conservation of food and numerous other commodities was a matter of purely individual or family concern and regulation."

"How different in many respects has been the war of 1917. At the date of the signing of the armistice more than 25 per cent of the entire male population between the ages of 18 and 21 were in the military service. This represents a growth in the size of the army in nineteen months of nearly 20-fold. In March, 1917, 139,661 men were in the army. On April 1, 1917, the strength of the army was 190,000 and on November 1, 1918, it was 1,672,000 in the United States and foreign possessions and 1,993,000 in the American Expeditionary Forces. Yet in a brief nineteen months more than 3 1/2 million men were mobilized, housed, fully equipped with munitions and supplies, and the major part of them given a military training that enabled them to oppose successfully the soldiers of the most warlike of the European nations."

"The total American casualties to November 11, 1918, when hostilities ceased in France, were given out by the chief of staff on November 23, as follows: Killed and died of wounds . . . 36,154

Died of disease . . . 14,811
Deaths, unclassified . . . 2,204
Wounded . . . 179,825
Prisoners . . . 2,163
Missing . . . 1,160

Totals . . . 236,117

"On October 10, 1918, American troops held their greatest amount of front line, holding 23 per cent, or 162.3 kilometers of front, the Allied total at that time being 712 kilometers, or about 425 miles."

"More Expense to Come."

"Before the war the United States had a very small army, spending a few hundred millions of dollars. In the war the army had to spend 14,000 million dollars and these sums were expended in such a way that there was no graft, very little waste and almost no delay in payment. Nearly half of this amount was spent to pay, clothe and feed the army. The remainder was spent to purchase equipment, munitions, transportation and services for prosecuting the war."

"America's total war expenses totalled, 23,363 million dollars. We could have, for the cost of this war, carried on the Revolutionary War for one thousand years."

"Of this, 2,069 million dollars represented normal government expenditures and 21,294 million dollars represented extra war costs. Of this sum 14,000 million was spent by the army of the United States. These figures, of course, do not represent any future payments, such as insurance, claims or benefits, which will add large sums to the above."

"On May 16, 1919, the Treasury Department announced that our total credits to all Allies was $9,370,219,000."

"As time goes on wars become more terrific, more awful to contemplate. Everything seems to be in a more concentrated form than previously. Each war is the forerunner of a worse war to follow, and yet we seem to hesitate in formulating a military policy of preparedness."

THE SPIRIT LAKE MASSACRE

Survivor Blames Cooper for Non-resistance of Settlers—"Noble Red Man" Myth Opened Doors Indians, Says Mrs. Abby Sharp, Who Lives on the Site of Her Father's Log Cabin.

From New York Sun.

It is a long, long trail for many of us back to school readers, rubber boots and tales of Indian wars. We feel about Indian wars as the young woman did who when visiting the aquarium recently was surprised and thrilled at seeing the sealhorses as though she had suddenly come upon Aladdin's lamp. Just because there were pictures of sealhorses in her book of fairy tales she had relegated them in her mind to the realm of the unreal."

One of the latest and best known Indian massacres was that of Spirit Lake, in northwestern Iowa, and there still lives in that region a little woman who has been known for two generations as "the only survivor of the Spirit Lake Massacre." She is Mrs. Abby Gardiner Sharp. And many an unwilling memory has been dragged from her mind.

That night she was compelled to watch an Indian war dance in celebration of the execution of her family. By the next night they had killed thirty-eight people, the entire settlement with the exception of Abby Gardiner and three other young women who were made captives to serve the whims of the Indians and act as pack horses when not otherwise occupied.

"Too Much Cooper."

Mrs. Sharp is a woman weighing less than 100 pounds. "You know," she explained, "Easterners all look upon the Indian as the 'noble red man.' My mother had that idea. It came from reading so much of James Fenimore Cooper. When the Indians came to our house that morning father realized that they intended to kill us. His impulse was to defend us and kill a few of them before they killed us. But mother interfered. She begged him to let the Indians in and treat them kindly, hoping that then they would spare our lives."

"If we had fought them there might have been no Spirit Lake massacre. We might have defended ourselves, and as ours was the first house they visited that morning, if we had resisted they might have been discouraged at the outset. At least the rest of the settlement might have been warned. Father asked two young men who were at our house to go and warn the settlement, but they sided with mother, who thought the Indians were only in a pet and that they would go over it."

"When we did understand there was not even time to shut the door," pointing to an open square of light framed in morning glories.

"I stood it is as much of a conundrum to me as to you—I, who had been protected from hardship all my life, and who did not know there was such a thing as evil in the world! When I write down the things that were in that pack I carried I could not believe it, if I did not know it was true. It was heavier than those the squaws carried. The Indians took all the settlement live stock with them, but only one little pony and I survived to reach Yankton, where I was rescued. The weather was so bad that spring that several from the rescuing parties that tried to reach us were frozen to death."

Cost State $10,000.
The rescue of Abby Gardiner was accomplished in the guise of a purchase which was carried out by a clever Christianized Indian, Horton-Ho-Washta, with two others, who was sent by the State of Minnesota. The expedition cost the state at that time, the considerable sum of $10,000. And the little girl was well on her way to Ft. Paul before she found out that she was not the property of an Indian tribe.

"There were thirty-eight Indians hanged by the government for the massacre of 1862," Mrs. Sharp recalled, "which was patterned by Iukpaduta upon his very successful Spirit Lake killing. Lincoln pardoned all but thirty-eight of those convicted. The Easterners couldn't understand what a massacre was like and they interceded for the Indians."

"But do you know," she repeated, "If my mother had not read so much of James Fenimore Cooper down there in New York I don't believe there would have been a Spirit Lake massacre."

Mrs. Sharp bought her father's old log cabin many years after the massacre and built her own cottage near it.

"Father built it," she said, "It was all there was left to speak of him in the world."

"But," she whispered, "people come here and they say to me: 'Weren't you awful scared? My! My! My!' I say to these people: 'Fear ceases to make you afraid. When you are in battle your fear has departed.' The soldier who has been in battle can understand where I was."

A surprise birthday dinner was given Thursday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Curry in honor of Mrs. Mary Camm, the occasion being her sixty-eighth birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Camm, of Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Camm and family; Mrs. Ida Caruthers, Mrs. Bert Spire, and Rev. J. E. Curry and family.

Rev. Walter Mitchell returned from Chestnut where he officiated at the funeral of Mrs. John Oberly.

Mrs. Nellie Girdler and son Lewis left Wednesday for Citronelle, Ala., to spend the remainder of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hall left Thursday for Excelsior Springs, Mo., to spend the remainder of the winter.

Richard Henry of Raymond spent Wednesday at the home of Elder and Mrs. J. A. Conlee.

John Sherburn was called to Berlin the first part of the week to see his sister, Mrs. John Bell, who has a serious attack of heart trouble.

The condition of Mrs. Charles Dikis, who has been very ill is somewhat improved.

A DIFFERENCE.

From Edinburgh Scotsman. "I want to know," said the grim faced woman, "how much my husband drew out of the bank last week?"

"I cannot give you that information, madam."

"You're the paying teller, aren't you?"

"Yes, but I'm not the telling payer."

ILLINOIS WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

Prof. Francis G. Blair, State Superintendent of Schools, was the guest of the college at dinner last Saturday evening, after which he addressed the students in a brief but interesting manner.

The Y. W. C. A. meeting Sunday was given over to a report of the Student Volunteer Conference which was held in Des Moines during the Christmas holidays. Over 7,000 students from all over the world assembled there and were addressed by men of international fame. The representatives from the Illinois Woman's College were: Hazel Dell, Ada Clotfelter, Avis Crowder, Mildred Keys, and Miss Hills, who spoke to us Sunday and conveyed to us some of the big ideas of the conference.

Moving pictures of the work of industrial girls were shown here Monday evening under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. of the College. These were especially interesting because of the recent visit of Miss Louise Gates, Industrial Y. W. C. A. Secretary at Allentown, Pennsylvania, who told us something of her work in that field.

Dr. and Mrs. Harker entertained the faculty at dinner Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Florence P. Hartmann, who this month finishes a very successful period of work in the College of Music.

Dr. Champenois, representative of French Universities in this country, gave a short talk in chapel Friday. He has the supervision of 243 French students who have been granted scholarships in the colleges and universities of the United States. At present, France is granting 30 scholarships to American students, but Dr. Champenois hopes that he may be able to raise this number to 50 next year.

Friday evening, Dr. Harker read before the faculty and seniors the paper which he had been requested to give before the Presidents' Conference in Chicago. A number of the suggestions which he advanced in this paper were adopted and will be brought up before the General Conference.

Arrangements have been made for the presentation of one of Henrik Ibsen's plays, on February 9th, by a company which is traveling in the middle west, and presenting these plays at the largest colleges and universities. The leading lady is a native of Christiania, and can therefore bring to us the Norwegian atmosphere so necessary in Ibsen's plays. This promises to be a rare opportunity for Jacksonville people who enjoy good drama, and it is hoped that everyone will take advantage of it.

Miss Cleo Bergner of Bluffs was the guest of Miss Dorothy Griswold Monday.

Mrs. H. Y. Pollock and small son Henry were the guests of Miss Beth Pollock Monday.

Miss Ruth Lester of Buffalo, a former student of the college, is spending the week-end at the college, the guest of Miss Marian Jane Robison.

Mrs. G. R. Atherton and two sons, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, are visiting Mrs. Atherton's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Harker. Much interest is being taken in the Organ recital to be given by Joseph Bonnet, the celebrated French organist, on Friday evening, February 6.

The collection of Contemporary Oil Paintings by American artists will be on exhibition at the Woman's College from February 13th to 26th. There will be fifty pictures from the winter exhibition of the New York Society of Artists. Among the noted painters represented are: Jonas Lie, Roy Brown, Elbert Clark, Colin Campbell Cooper, Irving Couse, Charles C. Curran, Charles Warren Eaton, Albert Groll, Felicie Waldo Howell, Jane Peterson, Edward Potthast, Rhoda Holmes Nicolls and others. A group of pictures by Miss Knopf, which have been widely exhibited, will also be shown at the same time. Georgia Flowers, of Champaign, and Violet Davis, of Jacksonville, have joined the Art classes since the Christmas holidays.

OUR COUGH DROPS Stops the Cough. MERRIGAN'S.

CONSERVATORY NOTES

Mr. Krich has received the program of Mr. Kellerman's song recital of next Tuesday evening. The greater portion of it will be sung in English, which Mr. Kellerman's clear enunciation always makes intelligible, and several numbers requested by friends who heard him before have been included. Two songs by Mr. Frederick Meyers, a student in composition under Mr. Krich, will be sung to the accompaniment of the composer. Miss Ruth Dorwart played a piano solo at the high school last Thursday morning, January 15th. Harland Moses played a piano solo at the Christian church last Sunday evening, January 11th.

THINK DEKAY GIRL IS SUICIDE

Providence, R. I., Jan. 16. Judge Thomas Z. Lee of this city, who is in charge of the country-wide search for Miss Jeanna Anne DeKay, missing from Chicago since Dec. 30, said today that the complete failure of all the apparent clues that had been investigated rather strengthened the opinion that she had committed suicide. The search, however, has not been abandoned, he said.

Cost of Living Out and Industries Going Forward—Homes Rebuilt, Labor Disputes at an End—Employment Problem Almost Solved—Broad Cheaper Than It Is in America.

From New York Tribune.

Washington.—"There is no Bolshevism in Belgium."

Attending the International Labor Conference here, the Belgians tell no tale of despair. But describe, thru their experts, a nation foremost in recovery from war's devastation, that trod upon with the most viciousness by the invader.

These are the outstanding facts:

Belgian coal production has been brought back to 87 per cent of the pre-war output.

The big diamond cutting industry of Antwerp has completely recovered.

Unemployment has been all but solved. At the close of the war there were nine hundred thousand men drawing unemployment benefit, while today there are but two hundred thousand with the number going down rapidly.

The cost of living has been driven down. At one time the price level went up to 1,100 as compared to 100 in pre-war times, while today it is 254, about on a par with the American figure. At the time of the signing of the armistice it was 700.

Rebuilding of homes is going forward under a union of municipalities, thru which the best architects are employed. State aid is extended to municipalities, while refugees are brought back with money accumulated in the "King Albert Fund."

National teamwork. There has been striking of differences in industry and politics that has resulted in national teamwork for the regeneration of the country.

Collective bargaining has been established, disputed points to be settled after impartial inquiry. A political balance has been secured by which all parties are working together in the government, even in the face of a political campaign.

Belgian coal mining has so far recovered from war's effects that low grade coal is being exported. The iron and steel industry is not recovering as rapidly as the Belgians had expected, but due to no fault of Belgium's. Germany, in the treaty, agreed to supply Belgium with a certain quantity of gas coal, but she has not delivered the product.

In the diamond cutting situation there is revealed a sidelight on German character. German profiteers are buying diamonds in large quantities in Belgium in order to avoid the levies on profits voted by the new German regime.

Co-Operation Hits H. C. L.

In reducing the cost of living Belgium has made large use of the co-operatives for which Belgium was noted before the war. The co-operatives continued to function thruout the war, and at its conclusion were still reaching practically the entire nation. They were given priority in the right to repurchase 300 million francs' worth of American army supplies which the Belgian government took over at Antwerp when the German machine collapsed.

The co-operatives found of special value, because in many localities the usual channels of distribution had been destroyed completely. The small stores of pre-war days had vanished from many communities, and in a number of cities all buildings of every kind had been destroyed.

So effectively has the cost of living been brought within bounds that today Belgium is almost the only one of the Allied countries without a rationing system of any kind.

Bread costs 85 centimes a kilo. This is 17 cents for two pounds, at pre-war exchange rates, but at present rates is less than 10 cents, a figure lower than that obtained in the United States.

End to Labor Disputes. Belgium has put an effective stop to industrial disputes, tho she makes no pretense of having done more than arrange for a peaceful reconstruction period. When the armistice was signed the central committee of the trade unions formulated conditions upon which Belgian workmen would undertake continuous work. Three demands considered fundamental, were agreed upon. These were:

1. A wage increase of 100 per cent over pre-war rates, with a minimum of one franc per hour for unskilled work and 1.25 francs for skilled labor. A franc is equal to a trifle more than 10 cents.

2. The universal 8-hour day.

3. Recognition of the unions and collective bargaining.

While the wage figure agreed upon would be regarded as low in the United States, it runs as high as 150 per cent over wages frequently paid in Belgium before the war.

The Sunbeam Will be a Training Ship for English Cadets. From London Telegraph.

The late Earl Brassey's famous yacht, the Sunbeam, which was lent to the Indian government as a hospital ship during the war, has been presented by the present Earl Brassey to the cadets of the Nautical college, Pangbourne, for part of their sea training. This interesting announcement was made at the annual prize giving at the college, and aroused needless to say, the utmost enthusiasm. The late Lord Brassey it was who, in 1890, in conjunction with Sir Thomas Devitt, Bt., inaugurated a system whereby boys who intended to become officers in the merchant service would receive a thorough training to fit them for their careers. Since then many hundreds of cadets have been given practical training in sailing ships, have passed into the royal navy or the merchant service. More recently a shore establishment has been created at Pangbourne, where the lads receive, in addition to ordinary education, thorough instruction in practical seamanship. The admiralty having cordially approved of the establishment, the cadets are enrolled as cadets R. N. R., and are privileged to wear the uniform of the rank.

Sir Thomas Devitt's announcement regarding the gift of the Sunbeam, the yacht in which the late Lord Brassey, among other world years ago, was accompanied by a statement that the college has also acquired the fine schooner yacht St. George, which has auxiliary steam power. "So that," added Sir Thomas, addressing the lads, "when you have completed your training here, and your training experience under sail and steam, you should be able to take your place in any work in the British seafaring world."

DARING ROBBERY BY LONE BANDIT FAILS

New York, Jan. 16.—The Manhattan Saving Institution at Broadway and Bleeker street, scene of a famous robbery in 1878 when "Jimmy" Hope and his gang stole $1,200,000 worth of securities was the target today of a lone bandit who made an unsuccessful attempt to rob it of $5,000 after engaging in a revolver battle with several officers and employees.

Captured at the point of a pistol by Constant Bierd, president of the institution, the bandit was turned over to the police to whom he gave the name of James Stratton of Chicago.

Stratton walked into the bank at 11 o'clock this morning, ordered David Sands, a paying teller to hand over $5,000 and fired four shots all of which embedded themselves in the wall. When Sands ducked under the counter and called to his fellow employees "get your guns", more than a dozen shots were fired by the tellers, but all went wild.

Miss Hilda Logan of Versailles was shopping in the city yesterday.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC

Miss Nancy Terwilliger sang "My Task" by Ashford, at the evening service at Centenary church last Sunday.

Maria Nunes played at the David Prince school this week.

A very fine program has been prepared for the first evening recital to be given by the students Monday evening, January 19th, in addition to the solos in voice, violin, organ and piano there will be some ensemble numbers.

The American women have always been anxious to follow the latest styles from Paris. During a recent concert trip to this country Joseph Bonnett, the French Organist encountered an up-to-date press agent. To excite the curiosity of the fair ladies, he flooded the town with circulars announcing that if they desired to see the latest creation from France it was only necessary to come to the Concert Hall the next evening when the latest "Bonnet" from Paris would be there. It is needless to say the hall was crowded to the doors and the new Bonnett became the "toque" of the town.

The following program was given Thursday afternoon in Music Hall:

Piano—Tartantelle A Minor
Dennies
Catharine Goebel.
Voice—Wynken, Blyken and Nod

ILLINOIS FROM GIRLHOOD TO MIDDLE LIFE

S. Freeport, Ill.—"When I reached middle life became run-down and in need of a tonic. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription surely proved to be all that I claimed for it and I am through this critical time with none of the distressing ailments which affect so many women, such as 'heat flashes' and irregular periods, but I believe I need no more of it."—Mrs. L. KIRCHEN.

Rock Island, Ill.—"In my girlhood I suffered from irregularity and would become run-down in health and my mother would give me 'Favorite Prescription' whenever she saw that I was getting run-down. At one time when I was suffering during development I gave me a complete course of treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and I still remember that these medicines restored me to perfect health, making me feel better in every way. I have since married an mother of three children."—Mrs. L. MARTIN, 4327 Seventh Ave.

Only Tested Materials Go Into Permalife BATTERIES

All materials that go into Permalife batteries—acids, and rubber, metal or wood parts—are subjected to a rigid analytical test before being used.

This insures you against a short-lived battery—one in which the materials are not up to specifications. And it's one of the things that enables us to guarantee Permalife for 20 months—the longest, real battery guarantee in America.

The CHENEY

A Master of Music

The Cheney Reproducer
Only one of a remarkable series of inventions in The Cheney.

So sensitive that it transmits perfectly the delicate overtones which give a production its individuality of tone.

As a result, Cheney reproductions bear striking fidelity to the original.

As the virtuoso finds in a score of music beauties overlooked by the ordinary player, so does The Cheney search out hidden loveliness in your records.

This master of music plays all records with a quality of tone unrivalled.

Like a rare old violin, The Cheney acquires richness of tone with its years of use. "THE LONGER YOU PLAY IT, THE SWEETER IT GROWS."

Story's Exchange, Loans and Insurance, Real Estate

Time was in England when men, with no land, had iron collars welded around their necks, and were slaves to their masters—the land owners.
Looks as though we are headed that way in the old U. S. A.
Our land has doubled in value nine times in 90 years—an average of once in ten years. Who can say it will not double in the next ten years? You don't think so? Neither did you think so ten years ago, but it has. I know men who have hoarded their money 20 years waiting for land to get cheaper, and have seen values double twice, and still advancing. The reason is plain: 120 million people where there were once 5 millions, and no more land now than then. Fifty men want the same farm—only one can have it.
Every farmer should "salt down" a piece of land somewhere.
Use your money and your credit—your neighbor has money to lend, and wants to lend as bad as you want to borrow. BUY LAND WHILE YOU CAN—IT WILL BE HERE WHEN GABRIEL BLOWS HIS HORN, and you can say that of no other investment.
(a) 340 acres, well improved, nice home, $125 per acre.
(b) A nice little farm of about 40 acres at the edge of town and well improved for $250 per acre. Don't quit farming, buy it.
(c) Not much more than a stone's throw from the city we offer a high class farm, rich soil, good house, barn, etc., for the price of a good farm ten miles out. You can move to this within ten days, and it is a splendid buy. Let us prove it.

SUBURBAN PROPERTY
The best investment for a man of small means—a few acres where you can market every dime's worth.
(a) Four acres, ideal location, new house, barn etc.
(b) Ten acres, excellent soil, rich as cream, lots of fruit, good in home house, large barn, in fact a young farm complete, and official worth the money. You should hurry in and see this one.
To be sure, March 1 or sooner on all these.

ILLINOIS MAN HAS GAINED 41 POUNDS

Was So Run Down He Had to Quit
Work and go to Bed—Tanlac Restored Him.

"Tanlac has made me feel like a new man and while it may sound unreasonable I have gained forty-one pounds since I began taking it," said C. R. Richardson, a street car motorman, living at 781 Ellis street, Galesburg, Ill.

"I first knew about Tanlac when I lived down south in Alabama two or three years ago," he continued. "I had been having a bad time with my stomach and rheumatism for eight years, and as I heard so much praise of Tanlac and knew so many people who had taken it and then praised it, too, I bought two bottles and was on my last half bottle when I came to Galesburg, and those two bottles sure did me a lot of good.
You see, my stomach was in such a bad condition that after every meal I ate I would wish I was dead because I would have such terrible pains and was in so much misery. I became very weak and it was all I could do to work. The motion of the street car, on which I was motorman, would make me dreadfully sick and I would just have to quit and go home. The rheumatism was so bad in my arms that I could hardly stand the pain
when I put the brakes on my car, and I slept very little on account of the pain. Well, when I had finished those two bottles of Tanlac
I felt better than I had in a good while, and I went to every drug store I could in Galesburg looking for it, but it had not been put on sale here at that time, and after I stopped taking it I was soon in a worse condition than I was before. My stomach trouble returned and the rheumatism became so bad that I could hardly get any ease. I was almost a physical wreck, with no hope of ever being any better or ever having another day free from pain and suffering. I had to give up my job, and was in bed when an old friend from the south came to see me, and remarked on my bad condition.

"Yes, George," I said, "I am in bad shape. I can't live long at the best in my misery. You see, I can't even raise my arm for the awful pain, but there is one thing I want you to do for me before you leave. I wish you would have some druggist order me some medicine called Tanlac. He said he would get me some if he had to go south and bring it to me, and in a few days I received a dozen bottles. I started taking it and found it was the same remarkable medicine that had done so much for me before. I soon began to have a good appetite and what I ate didn't hurt me. The rheumatism began to leave me, and I slept better than I had in years. I could feel new life and strength coming to me every day, and in a short time I was able to be up and around, and by the time I had taken six bottles I was back at work, and today I am a well man. I am hungry all the time now and never have a particle of trouble with my stomach, and my rheumatism is all gone."

Tanlac is sold in Jacksonville by Coover & Shreve, in Meredosia by Mr. R. E. Field, in Murreysville by Mr. E. Gilbert, in Waverly by Wyle Drug Co., in Woodstock by The Hoy Pharmacy, in Chapin by

WHITE HALL

Mrs. Mae Cobden, daughter Beatrice and son Russell of Jacksonville, were guests of Mrs.
Harve Truitt this week.

Miss Edith Rhorer, age 25 years is in a critical condition in a hospital at McAlester, Okla., as the result of an operation that affected the lungs. She is a daughter of Newton Rohrer, residing at Savannah, Okla., and the family are well known former residents of White Hall.

Pastor Evans inaugurated an old-time revival in the Tabernacle Baptist church last Sunday and the meetings are being largely attended night. A get-together movement is evident among the churches of White Hall, which falls to have the backing of the two Baptist churches here, the First and the Tabernacle.

Mrs. Frank I. Vedder is reported to be dangerously ill with bronchial pneumonia at her home in Carrollton.

A. J. Harding and family arrived this week from Erie, Penn., and are now in full possession of their new acquisition, the White Hall Greenhouses, recently purchased from Samuel Timbey, the latter having engaged in truck farming in the Oak Grove neighborhood, west of White Hall. Mr.
Harding is already introducing electricity thruout the greenhouse establishment, and has an order placed for a truck in which to make deliveries in White Hall and the neighboring towns.

A proposed change in the routing of local freight trains has this division of the Burlington promises to bring Greenfield into prominence as a sub-division. The plan has not yet emerged from the gossip stage, nothing official being announced, but it indicates a most feasible plan of eliminating the great amount of overtime made by the crews between Beardstown and East St. Louis, there being a crew each way daily. The new scheme is to have these two crews run only between Beardstown and Greenfield, there being a lay-over at Greenfield each night for one of the crews.
Another and third crew will make a daily round trip between Greenfield and East St. Louis.
The coal chute at Greenfield causes that station to be considered, and besides there are water stations at Rockbridge on the south and White Hall on the north. It is said that the need of a turn-back is an obstacle. Agent R. P. Ballard states that there is absolutely nothing official in this talk, but did acknowledge that the Burlington has long wanted a site for a coaling station at White Hall, and there is a good site at White Hall for locating a turn-table. Both locals spend hours at switching at White Hall every day, and as far as the station work is concerned is more central than Greenfield, but the absence of a coaling station is giving Greenfield the consideration under the new arrangement. For some time the C. & A. has operated its local freight service with one crew between Roadhouse and Godfrey, going down one day and back the next, and the arrangement has eliminated the heavy overtime expense, and seems to give about as good satisfaction as operating a crew in both directions every day.

Kansas City, Mo.
Editor of Journal,
Dear Sir:—
Spring is coming and with it the time to plant our memorial white elm trees in the new park.
I see some have suggested the name of Citizen's Park. Now that name don't seem to signify to strangers who might visit our city—that children were not allowed there?

We hope the surveying will very soon be made and the avenues laid out in one long straight line so that the planting may not be delayed.

A few members of the Service
Star Legion of the Morgan County Chapter, have completed the alphabetical list of names from the clipping of newspapers.
For many soldiers these are the only records of their service in the army that we have to fill out their Questionnaires.

We do not wonder that they do not like to think or talk about their experience in the army—but some day they might be very proud to show them to their children and children's children, and they might also find them a safeguard in any legal questions that might come up—especially about their life insurance.

A few years ago an officer in the Civil War was arrested and tried in court—with the penitentiary looming before him. The issue rested on the question whether he was wounded in Morgans' Galveston raid upon Memphis, Tenn. I saw a notice of the trial and remembered that a fellow officer had written me an account of this, his captain having been found unconscious and badly wounded after the raid was over.

I had kept these Civil War letters—and after hunting in the attic among old letters, found the right one and sent it to his lawyer. It was read in Court and the captain honorably freed.

Had there been "Questionnaires on File" of our Civil War soldiers this fact could have been proven with less sorrow and humiliation.
We earnestly hope all soldiers whose Questionnaires have not been filled out will call at the Library, corner S. Sandy street and West College avenue and see that they are.

convenient places, open all hours to save and let our money earn for us. We have the government investment, both in large and small denominations. We have savings and thrift clubs in our industries, in our stores, in our schools and even in our churches.

The press is giving us model budgets for our household expenses and suggesting rules for keeping the dollar in our pockets that used to go rolling into the saloon keeper's till.

And this is as it should be. We as a people have had the reputation, and rightfully so, of being an improvident wasteful people.
If we are now cleansing ourselves of this reputation, and I think we are, it is because of the lessons we have learned in the great war.
The waste of war is appalling.
Our natural resources are not inexhaustible and they have been years we must practice the thrift of conservation.

One of the basic differences between Mr. Thriftless and Mr.
Thrifty is his breadth of vision.
The one though his warped short-sighted vision cannot see farther than his immediate surroundings and so is the victim of his environment; the other, by his far-sighted vision of the possibilities that lie before him if properly prepared and close application of his spare time, is able to make of himself almost what he will. And so the thrift of preparation or of education is fundamental. The man who does nothing when he has nothing to do is thrifless. He will fail. The man who takes advantage of every hour of the day is thrifty. He will succeed.

First Cost

We can't compete for battery business on price.

Willard service does cost more, so does a Willard Battery. But isn't it true that if you hire a real engineer, or architect, or contractor, or carpenter, or mechanic, or doctor, or lawyer, that it saves in the long run?

We're in business to do the job right the first time —and that costs more than to fix it so it has to be done over again soon after.

When we sell a Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation we charge more for it, but, it doesn't come back for re-insulation with a big bill to you. It stays on the job till it's delivered all the service you bought—and generally a lot more

GOITRE. Basedow Disease (Big Neck)

THE TERM GOITRE is loosely used to express any enlargement of the thyroid gland, when it should apply only to non-inflammatory innocent tumors of the thyroid gland, while true Exophthalmic Goitre is a really separate and distinct disease and will be mostly considered here. Women about twenty times more than men are victims. In all history of diseases—there is not one that is as dangerous and as far reaching in its effects on health and life of women to which so little attention is paid. From the standpoint of the surgeon, we recognize six types of simple goitres—parenchymatous—colloid-adenoma of the thyroid—mixed—cystic—fibrous. And as a special clinical variety, we speak of substernal, or intrathoracic goitre (when the enlargement extends downward into the mediastinum—between the sternum and trachea.)

THE DISEASE MAY develop at any age between two and sixty. We have operated and reported a case in a child of three years of age, sent to us from the State of Virginia. But between fifteen and thirty years of age it is most frequent.

EXOPHTHALMIC GOITRE is a mysterious malady usually manifested by three sets of prominent symptoms, viz: enlargement of thyroid gland (big neck), protrusion of eye balls, and disturbance of the vascular system (over action of the heart). The disease was first described by Graves in 1835 while Basedow of Germany gave his first description in 1840, hence this disease takes the names of both writers. It is probably due to over activity of the thyroid and adrenal glands, which flood the organism with thyroid substance followed by a chain of characteristic symptoms.

WHAT IS THE CAUSE? That is an unsettled question. But we do know that emotion, sudden terror, fright or prolonged distress are causative factors. The very great number of cases seen in Alsace and Lorraine following the Franco-German war will never be forgotten. General neuropathic inheritance, indicated by epilepsy or insanity in relatives, violent exertion, injuries to head, cold, alcoholic excess, acute diseases as, scarlet fever, pneumonia, rheumatism, diarrhoea, diseases affecting the nose, as adenoids, etc., all play their part. Sometimes several in one family may be affected, where there is derangement of the nervous system on part of the mother or father. We note here—in one prominent family of Beardstown, Illinois—we operated on four girls for this disease and still another has it.

USUALLY, THE FIRST and most important symptom is the disturbance to the circulatory system. There is no Graves' disease (Exophthalmic Goitre) without disturbance to the circulation. The patient may complain of palpitation and rapid heart beat for years without any other noticeable evidences, but that constant rapid heart action (90-200)—minus of any febrile disease or poisoning from any endogenous or exogenous matter—is very probably due to Exophthalmic Goitre. The heart often enlarges, the valves may become affected from the strain upon them as well as the ventricles, the arteries, especially, those of the neck and thyroid dilate and these of the abdomen and body generally may follow.

THE SECOND prominent symptom is protrusion of the eye balls—sometimes this is so great that one or both balls become dislocated from their sockets.

THE THIRD SYMPTOM is enlarged thyroid gland which may accompany or follow Exophthalmos. The enlargement may be little or great. The nervous system often suffers greatly—neurasthenia develops—mental disturbances sooner or later—depression or great excitability are very common and may lead to insanity. The general health suffers, headaches, insomnia, vertigo, cough from pressure, the skin may present many changes—as, oedema, forms of eczema, loss of hair, muscular weakness, anemia, emaciation and a shortening of the natural life by several years. Many women and young women have this disease and don't know it. Frequently, we are consulted by patients with dyspnea (shortness of breath) weakness, palpitation, etc., when goitre is the cause.

LET ME ADVISE YOU for your own good—Any time that your attention is attracted to the function of any organ by its action something is wrong, and in the case of Exophthalmic Goitre you are inviting suffering and flirting with Death. "What should I do?" The way is plain—see a physician—if your case is diagnosed as Goitre your physician will probably take you to a surgeon as soon as possible. More and more we are finding that this is a surgical disease. With the great advancement in surgery and surgical technique in the last ten years, there needs be little fear of the knife in these cases. In the last 32 goitre operations at The New Home Sanitarium not a single death.

YOUNG WOMEN, improve your looks, be comfortable, extend your life, turn your backs on skepticisms, ignorance and death. WATCH FOR Bulletin No. 9 for expectant mothers.
